

Strategic Partnerships, Inc.

SPI Special Services Division - Brad Livingston

Brad Livingston, a veteran public-sector executive who served for more than a decade as executive director of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice (TDCJ), has joined the Special Services Division at Strategic Partnerships, Inc. (SPI) as a senior consultant. His public-sector career, which spans over 25 years, positions him well to specialize in consulting with clients interested in criminal justice, law enforcement, executive and financial issues, planning and strategy development.

For more than a decade, Brad was the Chief Executive Officer of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice (TDCJ). In that position he was responsible for 38,000 employees, a biennial budget of more than $6 billion and every aspect of operations for one of the largest prison systems in the United States. He also had oversight of the parole and probation systems. Before serving as TDCJ's Executive Director Brad was the agency's Chief Financial Officer.

Prior to joining TDCJ, Brad served as a top aide in Governor George W. Bush's Office of Budget and Planning. Brad is a nationally-recognized leader in the field of criminal justice administration and law enforcement in general. His consulting strengths are enhanced even more by his work with the Legislative Budget Board and his oversight of procurement strategies for one of the largest public agencies in Texas. He is particularly adept in procurement analysis, finance and political strategy.

Brad holds a bachelor's degree in political science with honors from Metropolitan State University of Denver and a Master of Public Affairs from the LBJ School of Public Affairs, University of Texas at Austin.

Brad will use his specialized subject matter knowledge and executive leadership experience, as well as his decades of credibility and relationships, to offer invaluable insight, guidance and assistance to SPI's clients.

*Interested in learning more about SPI's Special Services Division?
Email us at sales@spartnerships.com*