

Brittany Gaddy

Brittany Gaddy has a strong background in government procurement as well as government policy at all levels of government. She understands politics and procedures and has experience in government communications. Brittany brings value to client engagements and the SPI Consulting Team through her research proficiency and data analysis. She provides essential team support regarding budget and compliance issues as well.

As a former senior program associate for Freedom House, a national research and analysis firm in Washington, D.C., Brittany wrote grants in compliance with federal agency and department requirements and served as a trainer for grantees regarding U.S. government financial reporting requirements and procurement procedures. She also worked as a researcher at Georgetown University.

Brittany holds a bachelor's degree in international relations from Wheaton College and a master's degree in government from Georgetown University.