

Bryn Terry

Experienced in the government, nonprofit and private sectors, SPI Consultant Bryn Terry is sought out often by SPI consulting teams seeking to take advantage of her wide-ranging knowledge and expertise for clients. Skilled at research and analysis, communications, grant writing, data collection, procurement policies and database manipulation, Bryn creates immeasurable value for SPI client teams.

Most recently, Bryn served in the office of a member of the Texas House of Representatives where she interacted with legislative and agency staff regarding legislation, budget and policy issues. She also interacted with constituents, government affairs representatives and organizations with competing interests. It allowed her to perfect her skills at consensus building and finding workable solutions to satisfy all parties.

Bryn holds a bachelor's degree in psychology from Rhodes College in Memphis, Tenn.