

Colby Harrell

Colby Harrell is a member of the consulting division and works with client teams representing a broad range of products and services. He is also a member of the research team and has spent much time gathering information and analyzing the various aspects of public-private partnerships.

Prior to joining the team at SPI, Colby held positions at institutions of higher education, worked in the nonprofit sector, and worked on political campaigns. Colby also worked for a congressman in the U.S. House of Representatives where he developed his understanding of the legislative process and public policy. His experience working in the nation's capital helped him to increase his knowledge of government and affirmed his desire to work in an environment that would allow him to interact with governmental agencies at all levels of government.

Colby holds a bachelor's degree in political science from Texas Tech University.
